Ethan Landrum-Denby — ATX Neo-Nazi, 211 Bootboys, Atomwaffen Division Sympathizer

📅 On 25 Sep, 2019 👤 By fashfinder 💬 With 0 Comments

On the chopping block today (literally and figuratively), we have Mr. Ethan Alexander Landrum-Denby, neo-nazi "Third Positionist" in the Austin white power Oi! (neo-nazi punk) music scene. A truly upstanding member of society. His instagram username is red.area__ and it looks like he scrubbed his facebook since we released his doxx on twitter a couple weeks ago. He was born on 12/26/1994, so currently he is 24, about to be 25.

His current address based on his criminal record is 6903 Deatonhill Drive, Austin TX, which looks like it is Flagstone Apartments near William Cannon Dr in South Austin. His voter registration states he is living at 2958 Lagerway Cv, Austin

TX but this may just be his father and step mother's address he is using for it. We assume he is registered as a republican considering his questionable "views". No updated details on his vehicle yet, but we have a list of them we are combing through to determine which one belongs to him, although we know his father is registered to it. As mentioned above, he got a DWI in 2017, and it looks like his license may have been suspended for a period of time.

He also has a girlfriend named LeAnn Blackwell, pictured both above and below, who LARPs on her instagram (possibly deleted since we released this) as a Swedish tradwife (traditional wife culture of white women who endorse and participate in nazism) seems to condone and even endorse his views, considering she spends the most time with him. She is also pictured below with some friends throwing up the "OK" symbol, which was co-opted by white nationalists and nazis as a sign of "white power". The poor girl on the left has no idea clearly. LeAnn also attends St. Edwards University, and is set to graduate in 2020. I wonder what could be done about that? Contact St. Edwards here at 512-448-8400 and visit their facebook to message them at St. Edwards University Facebook Page

You would think Ethan would be a little more discrete about his views, but as a nazi in the US, he is extremely comfortable with his views. He is also what we deem a "siegebro" in reference to James Mason's book "Siege" that many neo-nazi accelerationist terror organizations use as their bible and manifesto to commit "lone wolf" acts of terror on communities to provoke a "race war" in the United States, Canada, South Africa, and Russia/Ukraine. These organizations include Atomwaffen Division in the United States, and The Base in Canada and South Africa, who tend to overlap with one another.

We don't know for sure if Landrum-Denby is in these organizations, but we know for sure he lives by their convoluted set of values and expresses great sympathies with them.

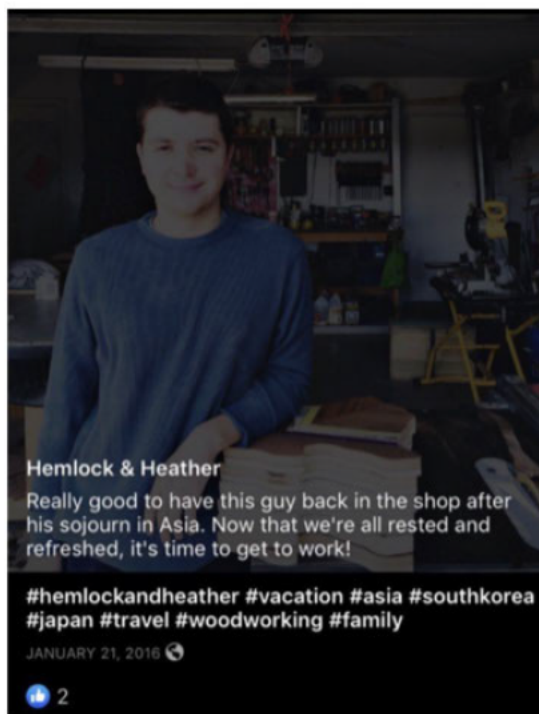

When he's not posting shirtless selfies with his AK-47 and representing terrorist groups, Ethan can be found pouring his white supremacist hatred into a crypto-fascist music project called Blackwatch. He is currently in the white power Oi! band

"Ultras" and "The Wilderness". There's only so many chords you can play about hating jews and black people. 0/10 would not recommend.

From the looks of it, he is currently or was previously working with his father, Kristopher Allen Denby, at his business in LaGrange called "Hemlock and Heather". Their website is hemlockandheather.com

They also manufacture wall decor for West Elm. Their corporate office number is 888-922-4119.

He also frequents Lone Star Gun Range in Lockhart, Texas to practice. Comrades, be aware of this shitheel in your presence and make sure to document it when you see it.

Landrum-Denby has some notable tattoos to look out for if you're out and about and run into this expired milk of a human.

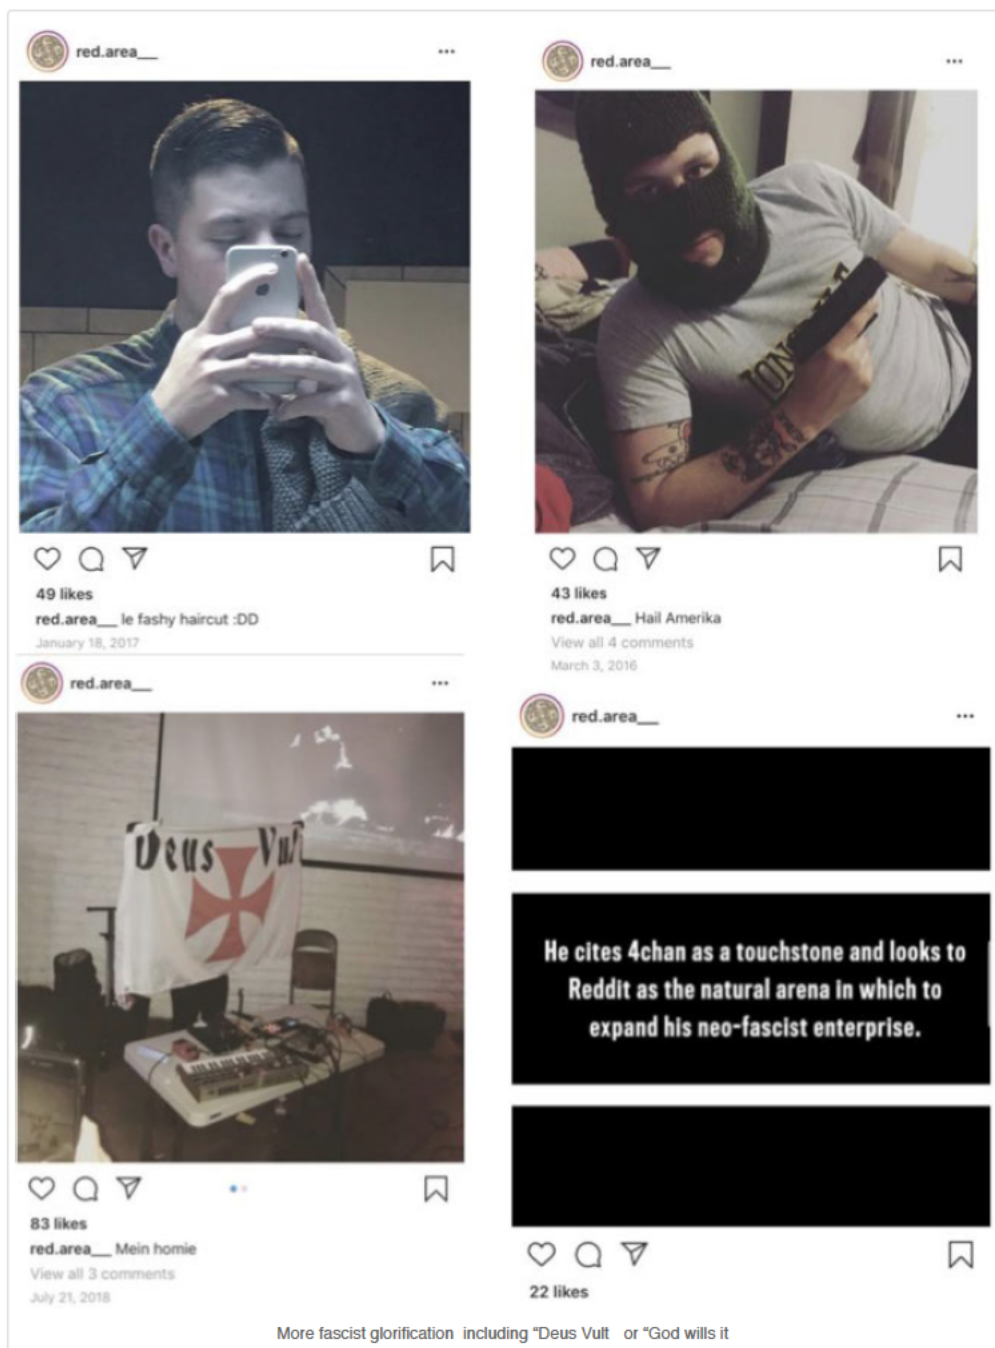

Some readings listed by Landrum-Denby himself give us some clear insight into his interests and hobbies. Notice the lack of self-help and self-improvement readings on here.

His instagram doesn't just include racist tattoos and insane dog whistles to nazi and fascist ideology, he literally glorifies fascism and admits to being a fascist and representing the fascist aesthetic. He even has a "Deus Vult" tapestry, which means "God Wills It", a phrase coined during the Catholic Crusades that was co-opted by white nationalists in recent years as a manifesto to target women, minorities, and LGBT+ folks.

Ethan considers himself to be a Third Positionist nazi, which has a particular focus in ecofascism. For the uninitiated, Third Positionism "advocates of Third Position politics typically present themselves as "beyond left and right" while syncretizing ideas from each end of the political spectrum, usually reactionary right-wing cultural views and radical left-wing economic views." It combines racism/anti-semitism with social or economic beliefs such as environmentalism. Don't even know how these people keep their heads from spinning off their bodies with the amount of contradiction.

In particular, Landrum-Denby is inspired by a 20c Italian philosopher who advanced the concept of "involution" (reverse-evolution) whereby white people in all their perfection, are the ancestral forebears of "degenerated" people of color and of course animals. In his since-deleted interview, Ethan (under the pseudonym "Black Bomber") waxes poetic like a true alt-right pseudo-intellectual about Evola who, by the way, felt 20th century European fascism didn't go far enough. Basically it doesn't matter what this chud calls himself, he's a fucking nazi. Here are some excerpts from the interview:

Black Bomber Interview

February 24, 2019

PSR: How did you come up with your band name? what does it mean?

BB: The band name was inspired by two things; my favorite jacket: a black alpha industries bomber, and the Serbian patriotic song Crni Bombarder (Black Bomber) by Roki Vulovic, from the era of the NATO bombing of Yugoslavia. It also echoes the name of my main power electronics project, Blackwatch. Beyond this, there is no other meaning to the band name.

BB: There are a couple of different things that people are generally referring to by the word "traditionalism." There is what I and some others in certain circles call "capital T Traditionalism," which is basically the metaphysical and philosophical school of thought associated with Rene Guenon and Julius Evola, among others. The topic of Guenon's works is very deep and complex, and far from something I am able to speak authoritatively on, but I am considerably more familiar with Evola. His books are certainly worth a read for anyone intrigued by him, in particular I find myself often going back to re-read his writings on polar metaphysics and critiques of America/Americanism. all that said, I don't consider myself and adherent to "capital T Traditionalism." My ideas of traditionalism

To nobody's surprise at all, Ethan has a slew of fascist and neo-nazi friends (they're like cockroaches people, when there's one there's many) who y'all should probably know more about, starting with these lovely individuals throwing up '211 Bootboys' neo-nazi skinhead gang symbols in NY (they also have 211 Bootboys tattoos) who were partly responsible for the attack on anti-fascist protestors alongside Proud Boys terrorists outside the Republican club where Gavin McInnes was speaking. The project "Blackwatch" also has a track called "Balkans Boot Boys" so we can assume they have an association to them aside from this image.

We also wanted to clue y'all in to a couple of his friends, the first one being David Aguilar, who is friends with Ethan. Pictured below on the left we can see Aguilar next to Landrum-Denby at Twin Sisters Cantina in San Antonio on 09/13/2019, so fairly recently. Aguilar, who is known to make bootleg neo-nazi black metal shirts, is also in a band called Zusammenbruch with Ethan's bff Corey Pickens. Heads up Aguilar — they would gas you too if they had the chance.

We have a couple more names, including the likes of Rick Flores and Rusty Kelly. We DO know that Ethan and Rusty have been seen in venues such as 523 Thompson, Lost Well, and Cheer Up Charlies, all of which they have been effectively banned as recently as two weeks ago when we released this doxx. They were also banned because they exhibited violent behavior by getting into fistfights in a couple of these places. Good on them for doing the right thing. We will find out what other venues they have or will be performing at to make sure they are run out of Austin.

Another INTERESTING partner in the Austin neo-nazi music scene is Rusty Kelly, also friends with Landrum-Denby and whom works on the Blackwatch project with him. He has quite the resume! He is a spoiled rich kid, D-list actor, and the son of the Austin School of Film co-founder, Anne Goetzmann Kelly. Go to his instagram to see this weirdass video of him trying to convince us "Iron Gates" is funny. Weirdest of flexes.

The weird and disturbing continues with Rusty Kelly choking his girlfriend on stage during a performance of his one man band "Breathing Problem" (can we recommend "mental abortion" instead?). He also happens to be Ethan's sugar daddy, pumping thousands of dollars into vinyl and merchandise for their Blackwatch project.

UPDATE: Looks like we got Ethan's and Rusty's attentions with our doxxes of them. Ethan scrubbed his facebook and made his instagram red.area__ private. He also deleted a few images alluding to his fascism, a couple of them including Ethan's band playing with a neo-fascist band named Vapaudenristi, named after Vapaudenristin ritarikunta, which means "Order of the Cross of Liberty" which were similar Finland renditions to the German Iron cross that were presented to nazis and other fascist forces in WWII. This band specifically believes in optics of a fascist movement, so they draw in apolitical crowds to accept their fascist ideology of "injustice, hierarchy, and violence."

Vapaudenristi clearly plays music that can be categorized as neo-Nazi hate music, but the lyrics contain also some "constructive" messages. Instead of focusing solely on hating "the Left", "the Elite", and "the Other", the band wishes to serve their fascist nationalistic ideas to the listener. In this way Vapaudenristi stands out from other RAC bands – they do not simply perform hateful angry music but also try and attract more apolitical listeners to adapt their ideology through building a positive image. They do this in a similar way as the political fascist movement, by presenting a secure future with jobs and unity if they accept the other pillars of the fascist ideology: injustice, hierarchy and violence. Vapaudenristi also communicate the idea of palingenesis, the return to an imaginary golden age of a united people. This is by many fascists supposed to be achieved through a civil war where all dissidents, leftists and minorities would be killed, isolated or deported. A lot of Vapaudenristi's lyrics discuss Finnish and European history through a contemporary far-right

A lot of Vapaudenristi's lyrics discuss Finnish and European history through a contemporary far-right perspective. For them the music serves as just another tool for propaganda. Sometimes appearing as a rowdy RAC band and sometimes as proud patriots, they wish to gather supporters also outside underground nazi music scene. It is no wonder that the webzine Sarastus ("The Dawn", a Finnish fascist "intellectual" website) has booked Vapaudenristi twice to the 612 rally after parties. Both Vapaudenristi and the far-

Landrum-Denby and Kelly are both pretty upset that their shitty fascist views got them banned from performing and patroning some local venues, but spare us the crocodile tears. Here is Ethan crying all over his Instagram.

By the way, considering your girlfriend spends a lot of time with you, that means she either condones your behavior, or she actively participates in it. LeAnne Blackwell should reconsider her allegiances if she doesn't want her life "ruined". We have a message for you and your girlfriend, Ethan: You're not persecuted, you're not killed for being who you are, you're not discriminated against. You're a few rich, spoiled white kids who had the CHOICE to be fucking nazis. And whether or not you were trying to be funny or ironic, the result is still the same. And ironic nazi is still a nazi. Period.

We aren't done yet. Stay tuned!

TO FASCISTS

t s way past time for discussion Oppressive beliefs are not “differences in political ideals” they are differences in moral ideals Speech against marginalized groups is the inciting of violence so we treat your speech as violence The government cannot speak out against you for speech but we can in our own way
